City Lights El Paso International Airport and I-10 Public Art Blue and Yellow in Support of Ukraine

EL PASO, Texas — In a glowing beacon of support for Ukraine, the City of El Paso is illuminating the outside lights at the El Paso International Airport and the public art piece on I-10 and Airway in the colors of the Ukrainian flag.

The City will illuminate both areas blue and yellow every night through the end of March in support of Ukraine and its people as they battle a Russian invasion.

The City joins many other governments, organizations, and entities around the state and across the country in a show of solidarity.

While El Paso and Ukraine are more than 6,300 miles apart, the City wishes to shine a light on the humanitarian crisis being experienced by the people of Ukraine. The lighting also offers an opportunity for individuals to take a moment to reflect on the dire situation and consider how each person might be able to show support by either donating to a local agency in honor of Ukraine or donating directly to help those impacted by the Russian invasion of Ukraine.

The community is also encouraged to support local nonprofit organizations via our community partners from the Paso del Norte Foundation and the El Paso Community Foundation.
